Structure

Millrace, west bank of Medina River S. of Florella St. Stone and board and batten, one and two stories, gabled roof. Only stone portions of mill remain. When first built in 1854, the corn and flour mill was powered by an undershot water wheel in an open ditch with water from a small dam in the Medina River. Later a water turbine was installed and the ditch covered. 6 ext. photos (1936).

Card prepared June 1975.
